Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people are advised that this report and any associated documents may reference or contain the names or images of deceased persons.

The augmented Electoral Commission for New South Wales (the augmented Electoral Commission) has undertaken a redistribution of New South Wales. In developing the redistribution, the augmented Electoral Commission has satisfied itself that the electoral divisions meet the requirements of the Commonwealth Electoral Act 1918 (the Electoral Act). The augmented Electoral Commission commends its redistribution for New South Wales.

This report is prepared to fulfil the requirements of section 74 of the Electoral Act.

Executive summary

This report outlines the augmented Electoral Commission for New South Wales' (the augmented Electoral Commission's) redistribution of New South Wales into 46 electoral divisions.

The augmented Electoral Commission has:

- abolished the Division of North Sydney,
- retired the name 'North Sydney',
- altered the basis for the naming of the Division of Cook, to be jointly named in recognition of:
 - the Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Cook GCMG PC (1860–1947), and
 - Captain James Cook FRS (1728–1779), and
- retained the names of New South Wales' 45 remaining electoral divisions.

The augmented Electoral Commission has adopted all of the boundaries of electoral divisions proposed by the Redistribution Committee with the following modifications:

- the portion of the locality of Wahroonga located to the west of Coups Creek (consisting of Mount Pleasant Avenue and Waratah Way) will be located in the Division of Berowra,
- the majority of the locality of Rookwood will be located in the Division of Blaxland,
- the portion of the locality of Lidcombe located to the south of the Main Suburban Railway will be located in the Division of Blaxland,
- those portions of the locality of Yagoona located to the east of the Sefton Golf Club, east of Rose Street and south of Ferrier Road will be located in the Division of Watson,
- a portion of the localities of Lidcombe, Rookwood and Strathfield (located to the west of the Campsie-Flemington Goods Line and north of the Chullora-Sefton Goods Line) will be located in the Division of Blaxland,
- the localities of Central Mangrove and Kulnura will be located in the Division of Robertson, uniting the localities in the one electoral division, and
- a small number of minor alterations, involving no elector movement, have been made to adhere to features or administrative boundaries and create more readily identifiable electoral boundaries.

Background

A redistribution of electoral divisions is the process where electoral divisions and their names and boundaries are reviewed, and may be altered, to ensure, as near as practicable:

- each state and territory gains representation in the House of Representatives in proportion to its population, and
- there are a similar number of electors in each electoral division for a given state or territory.

The Commonwealth Electoral Act 1918 (the Electoral Act) makes provision for the conduct of redistributions, including procedures, processes and timelines to be followed and how and when public consultation is to occur.

A redistribution of electoral divisions in New South Wales was required as the number of members of the House of Representatives that is to be chosen for New South Wales at the next general election has decreased from 47 to 46.

The redistribution process commenced with a direction from the Electoral Commission on Wednesday 9 August 2023.

The Redistribution Committee released its proposed redistribution on Friday 14 June 2024. Interested individuals and organisations were invited to make written objections on the proposed redistribution and written comments on objections via notices published in:

- the Commonwealth Government Notices Gazette (the Gazette) on Friday 14 June 2024,
- The Sydney Morning Herald, The Daily Telegraph and The Weekend Australian on Saturday 29 June 2024.

Seven hundred and thirty-eight objections to the proposed redistribution were made available for public perusal on Monday 15 July 2024, and 235 comments on objections were made available from Monday 29 July 2024. An inquiry into objections was held with:

- 62 submissions made at the inquiry held in Sydney on Wednesday 14 August 2024, and
- four submissions made at the online inquiry held on Wednesday 21 August 2024.

The augmented Electoral Commission found the written submissions made throughout the redistribution process, together with the submissions presented by those participating in the inquiry, to be a valuable contribution to its deliberations and is appreciative of the time and effort expended by all those who contributed. The redistribution has been informed by a thorough consideration of these submissions and the augmented Electoral Commission has taken them into account in making its determination. However, the augmented Electoral Commission was unable to implement some aspects of these submissions for the reasons set out in Chapter 2 and Appendix E of this report.

Legislative requirements

The Electoral Act requires New South Wales to be divided into the same number of electoral divisions as the number of members of the House of Representatives to be chosen in New South Wales at a general election. As New South Wales is entitled to 46 members of the House of Representatives, the augmented Electoral Commission has redistributed New South Wales into 46 electoral divisions.

In making its redistribution, the augmented Electoral Commission is required to adhere to two strict numerical requirements, as defined by the Electoral Act. These two numerical requirements provide an overall constraint to ensure that there are approximately equal numbers of electors in each electoral division so that each elector in New South Wales has equality of representation in the House of Representatives.

All electoral divisions are required to be within the range of plus and minus 10 per cent of the redistribution quota. At the end of Wednesday 9 August 2023, the day on which the redistribution commenced, 5,566,489 electors were enrolled in New South Wales. The redistribution quota was therefore 121,011. As the Electoral Act requires electoral divisions to be within the range of plus and minus 10 per cent of this quota, the augmented Electoral Commission was required to construct electoral divisions which contain between 108,910 and 133,112 electors.

All proposed electoral divisions are also required to be within the range of plus and minus 3.5 per cent of the projected enrolment quota at the projection time of Monday 10 April 2028. As the number of electors projected to be enrolled in New South Wales at this time is

5,962,555, and the projected enrolment quota is 129,621, the Redistribution Committee was required to construct electoral divisions which are projected to contain between 125,085 and 134,157 electors on Monday 10 April 2028. In relation to each proposed electoral division, the augmented Electoral Commission is also required by the Electoral Act to give due consideration to the following:

- i. community of interests within the electoral division, including economic, social and regional interests,
- ii. means of communication and travel within the electoral division,
- iv. the physical features and area of the electoral division, and
- v. the boundaries of existing electoral divisions in New South Wales, with this factor being subordinate to the consideration of i, ii and iv.¹

The augmented Electoral Commission can only balance the different criteria against each other in so far as they affect each of the electoral divisions in New South Wales and endeavour to achieve the best balance overall. Given the primacy of the two numerical requirements, it is impossible to satisfy all the statutory criteria to the same extent in each electoral division.

This redistribution complies with all relevant provisions of the Electoral Act.

Redistribution of New South Wales

The redistribution covers:

- which electoral division to abolish,
- the names of the 46 electoral divisions, and
- where to draw the boundaries between electoral divisions in New South Wales to accommodate the abolition of an electoral division.

Abolition of an electoral division

The augmented Electoral Commission's consideration of which electoral division to abolish was guided by the Electoral Act: namely, the numerical requirements and the obligations relating to community of interest, means of communication and travel, the physical features and area of the electoral division and the boundaries of existing electoral divisions.

The Redistribution Committee proposed abolishing the Division of North Sydney and retiring the name 'North Sydney'.

Several objections to the proposed redistribution and comments on objections argued for:

- abolition of a different electoral division to that proposed by the Redistribution Committee, and
- retention of the name 'North Sydney'.

The augmented Electoral Commission has adopted the Redistribution Committee's proposal to abolish the Division of North Sydney. Reasons for doing so are set out in Chapter 2 of this report.

¹ Paragraph 73(4)(b) of the Electoral Act sets out the factors an augmented Electoral Commission is required to give due consideration to in making a redistribution. Sub-paragraph 73(4)(b)(iii), which required that consideration be given to the trend of population changes within the state or territory was removed from Wednesday 3 June 1987 by the Commonwealth Electoral Amendment Act 1987.

Names of electoral divisions

The Redistribution Committee proposed:

- retiring the name 'North Sydney',
- altering the basis for the naming of the Division of Cook, to be jointly named in recognition of:
 - the Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Cook GCMG PC (1860–1947), and
 - Captain James Cook FRS (1728–1779), and
- retaining the names of the remaining 45 electoral divisions.

With respect to the names of electoral divisions, a significant proportion of submissions referred to the names of electoral divisions. Specifically: 274 objections, 16 comments on objections, and 21 submissions to the inquiry referred to the name 'North Sydney'.

Some of the submissions, objections and comments on objections supported the Redistribution Committee's proposed names while others argued that electoral divisions should retain the name they had at the commencement of the redistribution or offered a different name for consideration by the augmented Electoral Commission.

After careful consideration of the arguments regarding the proposals to retain the name 'North Sydney', either by retaining the electoral division or renaming another electoral division, the augmented Electoral Commission observed retiring the name was consistent with the 'Guidelines for naming federal electoral divisions' (the guidelines) and should stand unchanged.

The augmented Electoral Commission unanimously agreed the arguments offered in support of altering the names of any of the 46 proposed electoral divisions were not sufficiently persuasive to warrant departing from the Redistribution Committee's proposal. These 46 electoral divisions will be known by the names proposed by the Redistribution Committee.

The augmented Electoral Commission's electoral division names have been offered for the reasons set out in Chapter 2 and Appendix E of this report.

Boundaries of electoral divisions

In determining the boundaries of electoral divisions in a State, the Electoral Act requires the augmented Electoral Commission to ensure the enrolment numbers for each electoral division remain within the two ranges of the permissible maximum and minimum number of electors in an electoral division.

New South Wales' entitlement to members of the House of Representatives has decreased from 47 to 46 electoral divisions. As a consequence of abolishing an electoral division, the redistribution quota and projected enrolment quota were increased, as were the ranges for the permissible maximum and minimum number of electors around these quotas. The augmented Electoral Commission was required, as was the Redistribution Committee, to abolish an electoral division and alter 35 of New South Wales' former 47 electoral divisions to accommodate this and ensure that all electoral divisions met the requirements of the Electoral Act.

The augmented Electoral Commission noted that the Redistribution Committee's proposal met the requirements of the Electoral Act and proposed electoral divisions that can accommodate growth while keeping existing communities of interests together, where possible, and provided strong and readily identifiable features as boundaries, where possible.

The augmented Electoral Commission observed that the Redistribution Committee proposed electoral divisions which:

- were more equitably balanced numerically across the state,
- could accommodate the differing projected rates of growth and decline across New South Wales,
- kept together or improved existing communities of interests, in some cases represented by local government areas and localities, where possible,
- used strong and readily identifiable features, such as major roads, rivers or established administrative boundaries to define electoral division boundaries, to the extent possible, and
- were consistent with some important elements of the 58 suggestions and 100 comments on suggestions which identified electoral division boundary changes.

Abolishing an electoral division will, of necessity, result in significant elector movement out of the abolished electoral division and will also require consequential boundary changes and electoral movements across the state to ensure that all electoral divisions remain within the two permissible ranges.

The augmented Electoral Commission carefully considered the Redistribution Committee's proposed redistribution, the objections to the proposed redistribution, comments on objections and further information provided in submissions at the inquiry. The augmented Electoral Commission agreed with much of what was proposed by the Redistribution Committee and decided that some improvements could be made.

As a number of the changes advocated in objections to the proposed redistribution, comments on objections and submissions to the inquiries were able to be accommodated within the permissible ranges for the number of electors within an electoral division, or with minimal boundary adjustments to the surrounding electoral divisions, the augmented Electoral Commission made these changes. As a result, nine electoral divisions of the augmented Electoral Commission's redistribution differ from that proposed by the Redistribution Committee. These minor changes have been made to better reflect communities of interests and/or improve electoral division boundaries.

While acknowledging the merits of a number of other ideas advocated in objections, comments on objections and submissions to the inquiry, some of these were unable to be accepted because the resultant adjustments to the boundaries would have led to electoral divisions which fell outside the permissible numerical ranges. Any alternative adjustments would, in the augmented Electoral Commission's opinion, have caused significant flow-on effects for other electoral divisions across New South Wales under the requirements of the Electoral Act.

Elector movements

Overall, 719,722 electors enrolled in New South Wales (or 12.93 per cent of all electors enrolled in New South Wales on Wednesday 9 August 2023) will change their federal electoral division as a result of this redistribution.

Changing the basis to name an electoral division so that it is named to recognise two individuals will affect 116,059 electors enrolled in New South Wales (or 2.08 per cent of all electors enrolled in New South Wales on Wednesday 9 August 2023).

Implementation of this redistribution

Changes to electoral divisions as a result of this redistribution will apply from the day on which a notice of determination is published in the Gazette. This notice was published on Thursday 10 October 2024.

Electoral events will not be contested with reference to these new federal electoral divisions until a writ has been issued for a general election following the expiry or dissolution of the House of Representatives.

Chapter 1

Background and context

This chapter outlines the legislative requirements of the redistribution from the release of the Redistribution Committee's proposed redistribution to the determination of the names and boundaries of electoral divisions by the augmented Electoral Commission.

1. A redistribution of electoral divisions is the process where electoral divisions and their names and boundaries are reviewed, and may be altered, to ensure, as near as practicable:
 - each state and territory gains representation in the House of Representatives in proportion to its population, and
 - there are a similar number of electors in each electoral division for a given state or territory.

Compliance with legislative requirements

2. The Commonwealth Electoral Act 1918 (the Electoral Act) specifies that a redistribution process should be undertaken when:
 - the number of members of the House of Representatives to which a state or territory is entitled has changed (population change),
 - the number of electors in more than one-third of the electoral divisions in a state (or one of the electoral divisions in the Australian Capital Territory or the Northern Territory) deviates from the average divisional enrolment by over ten per cent for a period of more than two months, or
 - a period of seven years has elapsed since the last redistribution process was determined.²
3. The procedures to be followed in conducting a redistribution process are specified in the Electoral Act. Appendix A summarises the legislative requirements which have been followed in conducting this redistribution. Each of these requirements is discussed in further detail in this chapter.

Background to this redistribution

4. The steps followed from the commencement of the redistribution of New South Wales to the release of the Redistribution Committee's proposed redistribution are outlined in Chapter 1 of the Redistribution Committee's report: Proposed redistribution of New South Wales into electoral divisions.³

² Sub-section 59(2) of the Electoral Act specifies when a redistribution process should be undertaken.

³ Redistribution Committee for New South Wales, Proposed redistribution of New South Wales into electoral divisions, May 2024, page 9–17

Requirement to conduct a redistribution of electoral divisions in New South Wales and commencement

- 5. On Thursday 27 July 2023, the Electoral Commissioner made a determination under sub-section 48(1) of the Electoral Act of the number of members of the House of Representatives each state and territory would be entitled to at the next general election.⁴
- 6. As a result of this determination, New South Wales’ entitlement decreased from 47 to 46 members of the House of Representatives.
- 7. In accordance with sub-section 59(1) of the Electoral Act, the Electoral Commission published a notice in the Gazette on Wednesday 9 August 2023 directing that a redistribution of New South Wales into 46 electoral divisions commence.

Redistribution quota

- 8. Section 65 of the Electoral Act requires the Electoral Commissioner, as soon as practicable after the redistribution process commences, to determine the redistribution quota using the following formula:⁵

Number of electors enrolled in New South Wales as at the end of the day on which the redistribution commenced (Wednesday 9 August 2023)

Number of members of the House of Representatives to which New South Wales is entitled

- 9. In calculating this quota, sub-section 65(2) of the Electoral Act provides that:
 - where the result includes a fraction less than 0.5, the number is rounded down to the nearest whole number, or
 - where the result includes a fraction equal to or greater than 0.5, the number is rounded up to the nearest whole number.
- 10. Table A shows the figures used to calculate the redistribution quota and the resultant range of the permissible maximum and minimum number of electors in an electoral division (discussed further in the section titled ‘Statutory requirements for the making of a redistribution’).

Table A: Redistribution quota and permissible range for New South Wales

Number of electors enrolled in New South Wales as at the end of the day on which the redistribution commenced (Wednesday 9 August 2023)	5,566,489
Number of members of the House of Representatives to which New South Wales is entitled	46
Redistribution quota for New South Wales	121,011
Permissible maximum number of electors in an electoral division (redistribution quota plus 10 per cent)	133,112
Permissible minimum number of electors in an electoral division (redistribution quota minus 10 per cent)	108,910

4 A copy of this determination is available on the Australian Electoral Commission (AEC) website.

5 The redistribution quota is to be calculated using the number, as nearly as can be ascertained by the Electoral Commissioner, of electors enrolled in New South Wales at the end of the day on which the redistribution commenced. This number is extracted from the AEC’s Roll Management System.

11. As part of the redistribution process, the augmented Electoral Commission is required to ensure that the number of electors in an electoral division is within the range of plus 10 per cent and minus 10 per cent of the redistribution quota (see Appendix B).⁶
12. The number of electors at the commencement date of Wednesday 9 August 2023 at both the electoral division and Statistical Area Level 1s (SA1s) level were published on the AEC website when the invitation for interested parties to submit suggestions and comments on suggestions was made.⁷

Enrolment projections and projected enrolment quota

13. When determining a redistribution, the augmented Electoral Commission is required by paragraph 73(4)(a) to ensure, as far as practicable, that the number of electors enrolled in the electoral division at the projection time will not be more than plus 3.5 per cent or less than minus 3.5 per cent of the projected enrolment quota (see Appendix B). This quota is calculated using the following formula:

Estimated total number of electors enrolled in in New South Wales at the projection time
(Monday 10 April 2028)

Number of members of the House of Representatives to which New South Wales is entitled

14. For the purposes of this redistribution, projected enrolment has been calculated by the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS).⁸
15. Projected enrolment at the projection time of Monday 10 April 2028, together with the processes used by the ABS to calculate these projections, were published on the AEC website on Wednesday 27 September 2023. Publication occurred when the invitations were made for interested individuals and organisations to submit suggestions to the redistribution and comments on suggestions. The projections were made available at both the electoral division and SA1 level.⁹
16. Table B shows the figures used to calculate the projected enrolment quota and the resultant range of the permissible maximum and minimum number of electors in an electoral division at the projection time (discussed further in the section titled 'Statutory requirements for the making of a redistribution').

⁸ These enrolment projections are not predictions or forecasts. They illustrate what would happen to New South Wales' enrolment if assumed levels of the components of population change (births, deaths and migration) were to occur between the redistribution's commencement time of Wednesday 9 August 2023 and projection time of Monday 10 April 2028.

⁹ Accompanying papers explained the assumptions used in calculating these enrolment projections.

Table B: Projected enrolment quota and permissible range for New South Wales

Estimated total number of electors enrolled in New South Wales at the projection time (Monday 10 April 2028)	5,962,555
Number of members of the House of Representatives to which New South Wales is entitled	46
Projected enrolment quota for New South Wales	129,621
Permissible maximum number of electors in an electoral division at the projection time (projected enrolment quota plus 3.5 per cent)	134,157
Permissible minimum number of electors in an electoral division at the projection time (projected enrolment quota minus 3.5 per cent)	125,085

Release of proposed redistribution of New South Wales

17. Sub-section 66(1) of the Electoral Act requires the Redistribution Committee to make a proposed redistribution, with section 67 requiring that written reasons for the proposed redistribution be provided.
18. In its report Proposed redistribution of New South Wales into electoral divisions, the Redistribution Committee outlined its proposed redistribution of New South Wales and in Chapter 2 and Appendix F explained the reasons behind its proposal.¹⁰ On Friday 14 June 2024, this report was made available on the Australian Electoral Commission (AEC) website and in each AEC office located in New South Wales.
19. In addition, and as required by sub-section 68(1) of the Electoral Act, the following information was also made available at each AEC office in New South Wales from Friday 14 June 2024:
- maps showing the names and boundaries of each proposed electoral division in New South Wales, and
 - copies of the 58 suggestions made to the redistribution and 100 comments on suggestions which were received.

Invitation for interested individuals and organisations to submit objections and comments on objections

20. The Redistribution Committee is required by sub-sections 68(1) and 68(2) of the Electoral Act to draw attention to the redistribution material able to be viewed at AEC offices in New South Wales and to invite written objections relating to the proposed redistribution of New South Wales and written comments on objections via:
- a notice published in the Gazette on a Friday,
 - a notice published in two newspapers circulating throughout New South Wales, and
 - notices published in such regional newspapers circulating in regions affected by the proposed redistribution as determined by the Redistribution Committee.

¹⁰ Redistribution Committee for New South Wales, op. cit., page 30-94 and 119-172

21. The notice was published in the Gazette on Friday 14 June 2024. Newspaper notices were published in The Sydney Morning Herald, The Daily Telegraph and The Weekend Australian on Saturday 29 June 2024.
22. In accordance with section 68 of the Electoral Act, these notices included a brief outline of the proposed redistribution, where to view the proposed redistribution, how to participate in the process and where to find further information. As required by paragraph 68(1)(d), the notices published in The Sydney Morning Herald and The Daily Telegraph included maps showing the names and boundaries of each proposed electoral division in New South Wales.
23. Table C presents information on the options for making an objection or comment on an objection, and the extent to which these options were used.

24. Interested individuals and organisations were able to submit written objections from Friday 14 June 2024 until 6pm AEST on Friday 12 July 2024, the 4th Friday after the publication of the Gazette notice.¹¹ During this time, 738 objections were received by the Electoral Commission (see Appendix C).
25. As required by sub-section 69(2) of the Electoral Act, copies of these objections were made available to members of the public for perusal at the office of the Australian Electoral Officer for New South Wales in Sydney from Monday 15 July 2024, the 5th Monday after the publication of the Gazette notice. The objections were also made available on the AEC website from this date.
26. Interested individuals and organisations were able to submit written comments on objections received from Monday 15 July 2024 until 6pm AEST on Friday 26 July 2024; the 6th Friday after the publication of the Gazette notice.¹² During this time, 235 comments on objections were received by the Electoral Commission (see Appendix D).
27. As required by sub-section 69(4) of the Electoral Act, copies of these comments on objections were made available to members of the public for perusal at the office of the Australian Electoral Officer for New South Wales in Sydney from Monday 29 July 2024; the 7th Monday after the publication of the Gazette notice. The comments on objections were also made available on the AEC website on this date.

11 This requirement is specified by paragraph 68(2)(a) of the Electoral Act.

12 This requirement is specified by paragraph 68(2)(b) of the Electoral Act.

The augmented Electoral Commission for New South Wales

- 28. Sub-section 70(1) of the Electoral Act specifies that, for the purposes of a redistribution of New South Wales, an augmented Electoral Commission for New South Wales is established. The membership of the augmented Electoral Commission is specified by sub-section 70(2).
- 29. The membership of the augmented Electoral Commission for New South Wales is outlined in Table D.

Table D: Membership of the augmented Electoral Commission for New South Wales

Position on the augmented Electoral Commission	Name	Basis for membership
Chairperson	The Hon. Susan Kenny AM KC	Chairperson of the Electoral Commission
Member	Dr David Gruen AO	non-judicial member of the Electoral Commission
Member	Mr Tom Rogers	Electoral Commissioner
Member	Ms Rebecca Main	Australian Electoral Officer for New South Wales
Member	Mrs Narelle Underwood	Surveyor-General of New South Wales
Member	Mr Bola Oyetunji	Auditor-General for New South Wales

Note:

- 1. Shading indicates the members of the Redistribution Committee (chaired by Mr Rogers).
- 2. Mr Bola Oyetunji was appointed Auditor-General for New South Wales from Thursday 4 April 2024. Ms Margaret Crawford PSM was Auditor-General for New South Wales until Wednesday 3 April 2024 and in this capacity had served as a member of the Redistribution Committee.

- 30. The augmented Electoral Commission is responsible for:
 - considering all objections to the Redistribution Committee’s proposed redistribution and all comments on objections which were received by the specified lodgement times,
 - developing a proposed redistribution of New South Wales in accordance with the requirements of the Electoral Act,
 - conducting an inquiry into objections, should one be required,
 - determining the names and boundaries of electoral divisions in New South Wales, and
 - making the reasons for the augmented Electoral Commission’s determination available for public perusal.
- 31. The augmented Electoral Commission met on:
 - Tuesday 6 August 2024, and
 - Friday 23 August 2024.

Consideration of objections and comments on objections by the augmented Electoral Commission

32. The augmented Electoral Commission is required by sub-section 72(1) of the Electoral Act to consider all objections to the proposed redistribution and comments on objections which were received by the required specified lodgement times.
33. In formulating its redistribution of New South Wales, the augmented Electoral Commission considered each of the 738 objections to the proposed redistribution and 235 comments on objections received. In doing so, the augmented Electoral Commission uses the exact information provided by individual submitters: the augmented Electoral Commission does not rework those submissions to ensure they meet the requirements of the Electoral Act.
34. The augmented Electoral Commission found the written submissions made throughout the redistribution valuable and appreciated the time and effort expended by all those who contributed.
35. Chapter 2 and Appendix E outline the key themes contained in these objections and comments on objections, and how the augmented Electoral Commission responded to them, having regard to the requirements of the Electoral Act.

Inquiry by the augmented Electoral Commission into objections

36. Sub-section 72(3) of the Electoral Act requires the augmented Electoral Commission to hold an inquiry into an objection unless it is of the opinion:
 - the matters raised in the objection, were the same as or substantially the same as, matters that were raised in:
 - suggestions relating to the redistribution lodged with the Redistribution Committee; or
 - comments lodged with the Redistribution Committee; or
 - the objection is frivolous or vexatious.
37. Analysis of the 738 objections to the proposed redistribution indicated the matters to be inquired into as:
 - abolition of the Division of North Sydney,
 - electoral division(s) in which the suburbs of Carlingford, Epping and North Epping are located,
 - electoral division(s) in which the suburbs of Dee Why and North Curl Curl are located,
 - electoral division(s) in which the suburbs of Forestville, Frenchs Forest and Killarney Heights are located,
 - electoral division(s) in which the suburbs of Emu Heights, Emu Plains and Leonay are located,
 - electoral division(s) in which the suburbs of St Ives and St Ives Chase are located,
 - boundaries of the proposed Divisions of Greenway, McMahon, Mitchell and Parramatta, and
 - boundaries of the proposed Divisions of Barton, Grayndler, Kingsford Smith, Sydney and Wentworth.
38. The manner in which inquiries into objections are to be conducted by the augmented Electoral Commission is specified in sub-sections 72(4) to 72(9) of the Electoral Act.
39. Invitations to attend the inquiry were sent to those who made objections to the proposed redistribution or commented on objections. Notices of invitation were placed in The Sydney Morning

Herald, The Daily Telegraph, and The Weekend Australian on Saturday 10 August 2024. The augmented Electoral Commission held an in-person inquiry in Sydney on Wednesday 14 August 2024 and an online inquiry on Wednesday 21 August 2024.

40. Appendix F lists those who made submissions to the inquiry and a transcript from the inquiry is available on the AEC website.¹³ The augmented Electoral Commission found the submissions presented by those participating at the inquiry to be a valuable contribution and was grateful for the time and effort expended by all those who contributed.
41. The augmented Electoral Commission's response to the matters raised at the inquiry is summarised in Chapter 2 and Appendix E.

Conclusion of consideration of objections by the augmented Electoral Commission

42. Sub-section 72(2) of the Electoral Act requires the augmented Electoral Commission to conclude its consideration of the objections before the expiration of 60 days after the close of comments on objections. As comments on objections closed on Friday 26 July 2024, the augmented Electoral Commission was required to conclude its consideration by Tuesday 24 September 2024.
43. Consideration of objections by the augmented Electoral Commission was concluded on Wednesday 11 September 2024.

Statutory requirements for the making of a redistribution

44. Section 73 of the Electoral Act requires the augmented Electoral Commission to adhere to specific criteria in determining boundaries of electoral divisions.
45. The augmented Electoral Commission endeavoured to ensure that the number of electors in each New South Wales electoral division would:
 - meet the requirement of sub-section 73(4) of the Electoral Act for the number of electors in an electoral division to be not less than 90 per cent or more than 110 per cent of the redistribution quota of 121,011 electors (Table A indicates the number of electors enrolled in each electoral division in New South Wales must therefore be between 108,910 and 133,112), and
 - meet the requirement of paragraph 73(4)(a) of the Electoral Act for the number of electors projected to be in an electoral division to be not less than 96.5 per cent or more than 103.5 per cent of the projected enrolment quota of 129,621 at the projection time of Monday 10 April 2028 (Table B indicates the number of electors projected to be enrolled in each electoral division in New South Wales at the projection time of Monday 10 April 2028 must therefore be between 125,085 and 134,157).

¹³ Copies of all suggestions to the redistribution, comments on suggestions, objections to the proposed redistribution, comments on objections and the Redistribution Committee's report are also available on the AEC website.

46. The augmented Electoral Commission also gave due consideration to the requirements of paragraph 73(4)(b) of the Electoral Act:
- i. community of interests in the electoral divisions including economic, social and regional interests,
 - ii. means of communication and travel in the electoral division,
 - iv. the physical features and area of the electoral divisions, and
 - v. the boundaries of existing electoral divisions, with this factor being subordinate to consideration of factors i, ii and iv.
47. Further details regarding these requirements are in Appendix B.
48. Appendix G outlines the mechanics of constructing electoral divisions.

Public announcement by the augmented Electoral Commission

49. Once its inquiries into objections are completed, sub-section 72(10) of the Electoral Act requires the augmented Electoral Commission to:
- make a proposed redistribution of the state, and
 - make a public announcement.
50. While the augmented Electoral Commission is able to choose the means by which this public announcement is issued,¹⁴ sub-section 72(12) requires the following content:
- the substance of the augmented Electoral Commission's findings or conclusions on the initial objections to the Redistribution Committee's proposed redistribution,
 - the augmented Electoral Commission's proposed redistribution of the state, and
 - a statement whether, in the opinion of the augmented Electoral Commission, its proposed redistribution is significantly different from the Redistribution Committee's proposed redistribution.¹⁵
51. The augmented Electoral Commission did not consider its proposed redistribution to be significantly different to that of the Redistribution Committee. The text of the augmented Electoral Commission's public announcement, which was made on Thursday 12 September 2024, is at Appendix H.

Determination made by the augmented Electoral Commission for New South Wales

52. In accordance with sub-section 73(1) of the Electoral Act, the names and boundaries of electoral divisions for a state are determined when the augmented Electoral Commission publishes a notice in the Gazette.
53. The text of the notice published in the Gazette on Thursday 10 October 2024 is at Appendix I.

¹⁴ Paragraph 72(10)(b) of the Electoral Act states the announcement may be made by a statement to the media or by other expeditious means.

¹⁵ In the event the augmented Electoral Commission considers its proposed redistribution to be significantly different to that of the Redistribution Committee, paragraph 72(12)(d) specifies the inclusion of additional information in the public announcement.

Chapter 2

The augmented Electoral Commission's redistribution and reasons for the redistribution

This chapter outlines the augmented Electoral Commission's redistribution and the reasons for this redistribution. Also included is the augmented Electoral Commission's approach to formulating the names and boundaries of electoral divisions.

The augmented Electoral Commission's redistribution of New South Wales

54. The augmented Electoral Commission was required to redistribute New South Wales into 46 electoral divisions.
55. The augmented Electoral Commission decided to adopt the proposal outlined in the Redistribution Committee's Proposed redistribution of New South Wales into electoral divisions, with some modifications.
56. There are three components to the augmented Electoral Commission's redistribution:
 - which electoral division to abolish,
 - the names of the 46 electoral divisions, and
 - where to draw the boundaries between electoral divisions in New South Wales to accommodate the abolition of an electoral division.
57. To assist with readability, this Chapter's discussion of electoral division names will be followed by discussion of electoral division boundaries.

Abolished electoral division

58. The augmented Electoral Commission has adopted the Redistribution Committee's proposal to abolish the Division of North Sydney.

Names of electoral divisions

59. The augmented Electoral Commission has adopted the Redistribution Committee's proposed names without change.

60. The augmented Electoral Commission has:
- retired the name 'North Sydney',
 - altered the basis for the naming of the Division of Cook, to be jointly named in recognition of:
 - the Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Cook GCMG PC (1860–1947), and
 - Captain James Cook FRS (1728–1779)
 - retained the names of the remaining 45 electoral divisions.
61. This is consistent with the 'Guidelines for naming federal electoral divisions' (the guidelines) and some of the sentiments expressed in objections to the proposed redistribution, comments on objections and submissions to the inquiry.
62. Appendix J presents some summary information about the names of New South Wales' electoral divisions and how this compares to electoral division names in place at the start of this redistribution.

Boundaries of electoral divisions

63. With respect to the boundaries of electoral divisions in New South Wales, the augmented Electoral Commission was required to:
- abolish an electoral division, as New South Wales' resident population relative to that of other states and territories means that its entitlement to electoral divisions has decreased from 47 to 46, and
 - alter the boundaries of 35 of New South Wales' electoral divisions which did not meet the numerical requirements of the Electoral Act.
64. The augmented Electoral Commission has adopted the boundaries proposed by the Redistribution Committee with some modifications to nine electoral divisions. Table E indicates the electoral divisions:
- where the augmented Electoral Commission has modified the boundaries proposed by the Redistribution Committee, and
 - where the augmented Electoral Commission has adopted the Redistribution Committee's boundaries without change.
65. As a result, 42 electoral divisions have different boundaries compared to those in place at the start of the redistribution, while four remain unchanged.

Table E: Electoral divisions where boundaries are as proposed by the Redistribution Committee or have been modified by the augmented Electoral Commission

Boundaries which have been modified by the augmented Electoral Commission		Boundaries as proposed by the Redistribution Committee
Berowra	Parramatta	Banks	Lyne
Blaxland	Reid	Barton	Macarthur
Bradfield	Robertson	Bennelong	Mackellar
Dobell	Watson	Calare	Macquarie
McMahon		Chifley	Mitchell
		Cook	Newcastle
		Cowper	New England
		Cunningham	Page
		Eden-Monaro	Parkes
		Farrer	Paterson

		Gilmore	Riverina
		Grayndler	Shortland
		Greenway	Sydney
		Hughes	Warringah
		Hume	Wentworth
		Hunter	Werriwa
		Kingsford Smith	Whitlam
		Lindsay

Note: Shading indicates electoral divisions which have the same boundaries as were in place at the start of the redistribution.

66. The augmented Electoral Commission’s modifications are listed in Appendix H and are discussed in the following sections.

Abolition of an electoral division

67. Abolition of an electoral division was required as New South Wales’ entitlement to members of the House of Representatives decreased from 47 to 46.

68. The Redistribution Committee developed its proposed redistribution by assessing the impacts of abolishing a number of different electoral divisions.¹⁶ Observing that geographical characteristics, together with the distribution of electors within New South Wales presented limitations to deciding which electoral division to abolish. The Redistribution Committee considered that abolition of an outer metropolitan or provincial electoral division would necessitate the movement between electoral divisions of more electors than if an inner metropolitan electoral division were abolished.^{17 18}

69. As a consequence of making the necessary adjustments to ensure that all electoral divisions would meet the numerical requirements of the Electoral Act, the Redistribution Committee proposed abolishing the existing Division of North Sydney, with its electors being transferred to the proposed Divisions of Bennelong, Bradfield and Warringah.¹⁹
70. A significant number of objections to the proposed redistribution, comments on objections and submissions made to the inquiry advocated:
- support for the abolition of the Division of North Sydney,²⁰ or
 - that the Division of North Sydney should not be abolished.²¹
71. Arguments in support of the abolition of North Sydney included that the transfer of electors out of the existing Division of North Sydney to neighbouring electoral divisions would strengthen communities of interests in those neighbouring electoral divisions.
72. Arguments made by those in favour of retaining the Division of North Sydney included:
- the electoral division has existed since the first Federal election in 1901,
 - abolishing the electoral division would cause the loss of the special community of interest which exists in the existing Division of North Sydney,
 - the existence of a strong economic community of interest, including Sydney's and/or Australia's third largest CBD,
 - future population growth as the result of anticipated high-rise developments,
 - the elector projections used by the Redistribution Committee gave an incomplete picture of expected population growth in the lower North Shore area,
 - appreciation of the representation provided by the current Member for North Sydney, and
 - the political history of the electoral division, including having elected two independent members, a former Treasurer and a former Prime Minister.
73. The augmented Electoral Commission acknowledged that the Redistribution Committee's identification of North Sydney as the electoral division for abolition in this redistribution was significantly affected by the numerical constraints arising under the Electoral Act. The augmented Electoral Commission noted the number of number of electors located in the six electoral divisions in the geographic area of northern Sydney at the commencement of this redistribution, namely the Divisions of Bennelong, Berowra, Bradfield, Mackellar, North Sydney and Warringah. For these divisions, there were insufficient electors to meet the numerical requirements to keep six electoral divisions.
74. The augmented Electoral Commission also acknowledged that, in deciding to abolish the Division of North Sydney, the Redistribution Committee had had careful regard to its obligation under the Electoral Act to consider other matters, including communities of interest, social, economic, regional or otherwise.

18 Demographic classification of electoral divisions is based on the following criteria:

- Inner Metropolitan – situated in capital cities and consisting of well-established built-up suburbs.
- Outer Metropolitan – situated in capital cities and containing large areas of recent suburban expansion.
- Provincial – outside capital cities, but with a majority of enrolment in major provincial cities.
- Rural – outside capital cities and without majority of enrolment in major provincial cities.

19 Redistribution Committee for New South Wales, op. cit., page 35

20 Those indicating support are listed in Table AC.

21 Those arguing for retention of the electoral division are listed in Table AC.

75. The augmented Electoral Commission concluded that no better alternative to the Redistribution Committee's proposal had been identified, whether in objections, comments on objections, in presentations at public inquiry or otherwise.
76. In particular, the augmented Electoral Commission observed that:
- some of the advocated changes resulted in a proposed electoral division within six electors of the maximum permitted under the Electoral Act. Making such a change would raise a real possibility of triggering an earlier than expected redistribution. The augmented Electoral Commission considered that such a possibility should be avoided.²²
 - population growth is not the same as growth in the number of electors. Electors are a particular sub-set of the entirety of a division's population. Electors are those who are on the Commonwealth electoral roll. To be on the electoral roll, a person must be: an Australian citizen, or eligible British subject; aged 18 years of age or over; and have lived at their address for at least one month. An electoral division's growth in housing or population does not necessarily translate into an equivalent growth in its electors.
 - the projection period used for this redistribution, which the augmented Electoral Commission is required by the Electoral Act to comply with, is three-and-a-half years from the determination date.²³ As such, only limited regard can be paid to data reflecting enrolment and population movements outside this time period (which may or may not occur).
77. The augmented Electoral Commission concluded that abolishing an alternative electoral division, along with the adjustments necessary to accommodate this change, would not result in an improved outcome for New South Wales at this time. Whichever electoral division is abolished, there will be flow on effects for electors. The effects are considered in deciding whether an alternative will provide an improved outcome or not. In addition, the augmented Electoral Commission observed that concerns about the quality of representation, or any potential change in representation, fall outside of the scope of the considerations to which the augmented Electoral Commission can have regard.
78. The augmented Electoral Commission therefore concluded the Redistribution Committee's proposal as to which electoral division to abolish should stand unchanged. The Division of North Sydney, as it existed prior to the commencement of the redistribution on Wednesday 9 August 2023, is abolished.

The augmented Electoral Commission's approach to naming electoral divisions

79. The naming of federal electoral divisions has been the subject of a number of recommendations from parliamentary committees. The 'Guidelines for naming federal electoral divisions' were developed by the AEC from recommendations made by the Joint Standing Committee on Electoral Matters in 1995 in Electoral Redistributions: Report on the Effectiveness and Appropriateness of the Redistribution Provisions of Parts III and IV of the Commonwealth Electoral Act 1918. The guidelines are publicly available on the AEC website (see Appendix K for a copy), with attention directed to this availability when the redistribution was advertised.

22 A redistribution of a state will be triggered if more than one-third of the electoral divisions in the state deviate from the average divisional enrolment of that state by more than plus or minus ten per cent for a period of more than two months.

23 For an explanation of the projection time, see paragraphs 14 to 17 of the Redistribution Committee report.

Renaming of electoral divisions in New South Wales

80. The guidelines note that the names of electoral divisions should not be changed or transferred to new areas without very strong reasons. Any decision to alter the name of an electoral division is therefore one which is not taken lightly.
81. The augmented Electoral Commission received several objections to the proposed redistribution, comments on objections and submissions to the inquiry relating to the names of electoral divisions.
82. Where an alternative to the Redistribution Committee's proposal was advocated, the augmented Electoral Commission considered whether modifications should be made to address the alternative. The following paragraphs, together with Appendix E, outline the augmented Electoral Commission's decision with respect to the alternatives offered.

Retiring the name 'North Sydney'

83. The Redistribution Committee proposed abolishing the Division of North Sydney and retiring the name 'North Sydney'. This decision was made after the Redistribution Committee considered whether it would be appropriate to rename another electoral division 'North Sydney'; deciding that, based on the naming guidelines, there was no compelling reason to do so.²⁴
84. Objections to the proposed redistribution and comments on objections advocated:
 - support for the Redistribution Committee's proposal to retire the name 'North Sydney',
 - retaining the name 'North Sydney', or
 - renaming another electoral division 'North Sydney', with a preponderance of those advocating for that change also proposing that the Division of Warringah should be renamed 'North Sydney'.²⁵
85. Many objections to the proposed redistribution and comments in favour of retaining the name 'North Sydney' focused on the name being a Federation name in use since the first Federal election in 1901.
86. The augmented Electoral Commission accepted that the name 'North Sydney' has been in use since 1901 and retaining it would be consistent with the naming guideline to retain the names of original Federation electoral divisions.
87. The augmented Electoral Commission also noted that 'North Sydney' is a locality name and the name of a local government area. The augmented Electoral Commission observed that retiring the name would address the guideline that stipulates locality or place names should generally be avoided. This approach is consistent with the previous retirement of the Federation names of 'South Sydney' (retired in 1934), 'East Sydney' (1968), and 'West Sydney' (1968).
88. With respect to renaming the Division of Warringah, 'North Sydney', the augmented Electoral Commission observed that:
 - 'Warringah' is believed to be an Aboriginal word meaning 'sign of rain', 'across the waves' or 'sea'. The naming guidelines support the retention of existing Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander electoral division names as far as possible, and

²⁴ Redistribution Committee for New South Wales, op. cit., page 36

²⁵ Table AD lists those who supported retiring or retaining the name 'North Sydney'.

- the redrawn Division of Warringah will include less than 30 per cent of electors transferred from the former Division of North Sydney. The naming guidelines note that when two or more electoral divisions are partially combined, as far as possible the name of the new electoral division should be that of the old electoral division which had the greatest number of electors within the new boundaries. Accordingly, renaming the proposed Division of Warringah would not accord with the guidelines.
89. The augmented Electoral Commission considered that the arguments offered in support of retaining the name 'North Sydney' were not sufficiently persuasive to depart from the Redistribution Committee's proposal.
 90. Noting that the naming guidelines indicated that the names of electoral divisions should not be transferred to new areas without very strong reasons, the augmented Electoral Commission concluded that:
 - the Redistribution Committee's proposal was sound and followed the naming guidelines for federal electoral divisions, and
 - accordingly, the Redistribution Committee's proposal should stand unchanged.
 91. The augmented Electoral Commission therefore concluded the Redistribution Committee's proposal should stand and the name 'North Sydney' should be retired.

Renaming the proposed Division of Cook

92. The Redistribution Committee proposed the Division of Cook be jointly named to honour:
 - the Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Cook GCMG PC (1860–1947),²⁶ and
 - Captain James Cook FRS (1728–1779).²⁷
93. In making this decision, the Redistribution Committee noted that:
 - at the time the redistribution commenced, electoral divisions had been named for all of Australia's deceased former Prime Ministers, with the exception of Joseph Cook,
 - the guideline that when new electoral divisions are created, the names of former Prime Ministers should be considered,
 - the last time New South Wales gained a new electoral division was for the 1984 general election when 51 members were elected for New South Wales electoral divisions. Since that time, New South Wales' entitlement to electoral divisions has decreased to 46, and
 - two of New South Wales' existing electoral division are named for more than one person.²⁸
94. Three objections to the proposed redistribution advocated for altering the basis for the naming of the Division of Cook.²⁹
95. The augmented Electoral Commission concluded that the Redistribution Committee's proposal was sound and follows the naming guidelines for federal electoral divisions.

²⁶ The Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Cook GCMG PC was Australia's sixth Prime Minister, serving from 1913 to 1914.

²⁹ This was supported by: OB290 – Dr Philip Laird OAM, FCILT, Comp IE Aust, OB421 – Darren McSweeney, and OB619 – Jeff Waddell.

96. The augmented Electoral Commission concluded the Redistribution Committee's proposal should stand unchanged and the Division of Cook will be jointly named to jointly honour:
- the Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Cook GCMG PC (1860–1947), and
 - Captain James Cook FRS (1728–1779).

Renaming of the remaining electoral divisions

97. The Redistribution Committee noted that many suggestions to the redistribution and comments on suggestions advocated changing the names of existing electoral divisions, but it did not consider that strong enough reasons to alter electoral division names had been provided. The Redistribution Committee therefore proposed retaining the names of 45 of New South Wales' remaining electoral divisions.³⁰
98. Objections to the proposed redistribution, comments on objections and submissions to the inquiry advocated retaining the names:
- 'Hunter',³¹
 - 'New England',³² and

99. Objections to the proposed redistribution, comments on objections and submissions to the inquiry advocated renaming nine proposed electoral divisions.³⁴ The alternative names offered are displayed in Table F.

Table F: Alternative names advocated in objections, comments on objections and submissions to the inquiry for New South Wales' electoral divisions

Name proposed by the Redistribution Committee	Alternative names advocated in objections, comments on objections and submissions to the inquiry
Berowra	Bradfield – in honour of Dr John Job Crew Bradfield CMG, (1867–1943).
Cook	Cook – in honour of the Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Cook GCMG PC (1860–1947).
Hume	Burratorang – after Lake Burratorang, which is contained within the electoral division. Walton – in honour of Nancy-Bird Walton OBE AO (1915–2009). Werriwa – 'Werriwa' is the Aboriginal name for Lake George, which was located in the electoral division when it was first established in 1901. The name 'Werriwa' is believed to be an Aboriginal word meaning 'deep water' or 'sick crawfish'.
Mackellar	Warringah – after the area in which the electoral division is located. 'Warringah' is believed to be an Aboriginal word meaning 'sign of rain', 'across the waves' or 'sea'.
Macquarie	a name for an Indigenous person or word
North Sydney	Cammeraygal – named for the Cammeraygal people of the Eora nation, whose traditional lands are contained within the electoral division.

Name proposed by the Redistribution Committee	Alternative names advocated in objections, comments on objections and submissions to the inquiry
Riverina	Bradman – in honour of Sir Donald George Bradman AC (1908–2001).
	Cornforth – in honour of Sir John Warcup Cornforth AC CBE FAA FRS (1917–2013).
	Hume – in honour of Hamilton Hume, (1797–1873).
	White – in honour of Patrick Victor Martindale White (1912–1990).
Warringah	North Sydney – after the area covered by the electoral division.
	Sydney Harbour – named after the harbour adjoining the electoral division. an amalgamation of the names Warringah and North Sydney.
Werriwa	Walton – in honour of Nancy-Bird Walton OBE AO (1915–2009).

100. The guidelines note that the names of electoral divisions should not be changed or transferred to new areas without very strong reasons. Any decision to alter the name of an electoral division is not taken lightly.
101. While noting the contribution to Australian society of those individuals whose names were submitted for its consideration, and the general relevance of the submitted names, the augmented Electoral Commission concluded that insufficiently persuasive reasons had been advanced to justify altering the names of the electoral divisions listed in Table F. The augmented Electoral Commission concluded the Redistribution Committee's proposal with respect to these names should stand unchanged.
102. The augmented Electoral Commission has retained the names of the electoral divisions indicated in Table G.

103. In considering whether an existing electoral division name should be retained or retired, the starting point for any Redistribution Committee or augmented Electoral Commission is the range of ideas which are offered in the suggestions, comments on suggestions, objections, comments on objections and submissions made to the inquiry by individuals and organisations. Proponents for change ordinarily advocate:
- a name is no longer appropriate and should be changed, and/or
 - alternative names and why they are more appropriate.
104. Those offering alternative names frequently seek to acknowledge the efforts of individuals or groups who may be unrecognised for their achievements. Naming an electoral division for such individuals or groups can often be seen as one way to address such imbalances and oversights.
105. The augmented Electoral Commission encourages individuals and organisations to continue to indicate where they consider electoral division names should be re-considered and to recommend alternative names. To enable as fulsome consideration of these recommendations as possible, the augmented Electoral Commission notes these propositions can be provided at many stages of a redistribution; however, there is considerable benefit in them being provided at the first available opportunity, that is, when suggestions to the redistribution are invited because this allows time for further information to be gathered.

The augmented Electoral Commission's approach to formulating electoral division boundaries

106. In deciding whether to amend the Redistribution Committee's proposal to incorporate a concept submitted in an objection, comment on objection or submission to the inquiry, the augmented Electoral Commission was mindful whether the suggested amendment would improve the Redistribution Committee's proposal. As the augmented Electoral Commission's formulation of electoral divisions must conform to the requirements of the Electoral Act, potential amendments were also analysed with respect to the requirements of sub-section 73(4) of the Electoral Act.
107. The primary requirement was to ensure each electoral division remains within the permissible maximum and minimum number of electors around the projected enrolment quota (see Table B) and the redistribution quota (see Table A). In modifying the boundaries of electoral divisions proposed by the Redistribution Committee, the augmented Electoral Commission was therefore required to ensure that each electoral division in New South Wales continued to fall within the permissible ranges for the maximum and minimum number of electors in an electoral division.
108. Similarly, when considering adjusting the boundary of an electoral division to better reflect one particular community of interest, the augmented Electoral Commission observed that such an adjustment could prompt concerns about one or more different communities of interests.³⁵ In considering the many different communities of interests in developing a redistribution, the augmented Electoral Commission may consider multiple options before deciding on its final redistribution.

Adjusting the boundaries of electoral divisions

109. In constructing its proposed redistribution, the Redistribution Committee noted that it was required to abolish an electoral division and that 35 of the 47 electoral divisions did not satisfy the numerical requirements of the Electoral Act and therefore must change. To meet these requirements the Redistribution Committee proposed adjusting the boundaries of 39 of New South Wales' 47 existing electoral divisions.³⁶
110. The Redistribution Committee considered that this proposed redistribution would result in electoral divisions which:
 - have a rural, provincial, or metropolitan focus, with future growth more evenly distributed,
 - in a number of cases, local government areas are united within one, or shared between fewer, electoral divisions, and
 - electoral division boundaries remain clearly defined, where possible.³⁷
111. Nine electoral divisions in the augmented Electoral Commission's redistribution differ from those proposed by the Redistribution Committee.³⁸ These changes include:
 - the portion of the locality of Wahrenonga located to the west of Coups Creek (consisting of Mount Pleasant Avenue and Waratah Way) will be located in the Division of Berowra, ³⁵ What constitutes a community of interests may sometimes depend on relatively subjective assessment. Further, as noted above, any one individual may identify with and belong to multiple different communities of interest. For this and other reasons, an electoral division may therefore include many different communities of interest.

³⁶ Redistribution Committee for New South Wales, op. cit., page 31

³⁷ Ibid., page 31

³⁸ The electoral divisions affected by these changes are the Divisions of Berowra, Blaxland, Bradfield, Dobell, McMahon, Parramatta, Reid, Robertson and Watson.

- the majority of the locality of Rookwood will be located in the Division of Blaxland,
 - the portion of the locality of Lidcombe located to the south of the Main Suburban Railway will be located in the Division of Blaxland,
 - the portions of the locality of Yagoona located to the east of the Sefton Golf Club, east of Rose Street and south of Ferrier Road will be located in the Division of Watson, and
 - the localities of Central Mangrove and Kulnura will be located in the Division of Robertson, uniting the localities in the one electoral division.
112. A number of changes were also made to create more readily identifiable boundaries and which resulted in no transfer of electors to an alternative electoral division. Alternatives to these changes did not feature in objections to the proposed redistribution, comments on objections or submissions to the inquiry. These changes were:
- the portion of the localities of Greenacre and Strathfield located to the west of the Campsie-Flemington Goods Line and north of the Greenacre-Sefton Goods Line will be located in the Division of Blaxland,
 - the part of the localities of Holroyd, Merrylands, and South Wentworthville located to the south of the Western Motorway (M4) will be located in the Division of Blaxland,
 - the part of the locality of Greystanes immediately to the south of the Western Motorway (M4) will be located in the Division of McMahon,
 - the part of the locality of Granville bounded by the Western Motorway (M4) and Junction Street will be located in the Division of Parramatta,
 - the part of the localities of Auburn and Silverwater bounded by the Western Motorway (M4) and Deakin Street will be located in the Division of Reid, and
 - the part of the locality of Lidcombe bounded by the Main Suburban Railway, and Church Street will be located in the Division of Reid.
113. The augmented Electoral Commission considered the Redistribution Committee's proposal and agreed with much of what was proposed. Where an alternative to the Redistribution Committee's proposal was advocated, the augmented Electoral Commission considered whether modifications should be made to address the alternative. The following paragraphs, together with Appendix E, outline the augmented Electoral Commission's decision with respect to the alternatives offered.

The electoral division(s) in which the suburbs of Carlingford, Epping and North Epping are located

114. Prior to the commencement of the redistribution, the localities of Epping and North Epping were located in the Division of Bennelong, and the locality of Carlingford was located in the Divisions of Bennelong, Berowra and Parramatta.
115. Needing to make adjustments to ensure that all electoral divisions in New South Wales would meet the two numerical constraints imposed by the Electoral Act, the Redistribution Committee proposed transferring:
- the locality of North Epping and that part of the locality of the Epping located to the east of Midson Road from the Division of Bennelong to the proposed Division of Berowra,³⁹ and
 - the part of the locality of Carlingford located to the east of Pennant Hills Road and Marsden Road from the Division of Bennelong to the proposed Division of Parramatta.⁴⁰

³⁹ Redistribution Committee for New South Wales, op. cit., page 51

⁴⁰ Ibid., page 50

116. As a result of the Redistribution Committee's proposal:
- the locality of North Epping, in its entirety, was located in the proposed Division of Berowra,
 - the locality of Epping was split between the proposed Divisions of Berowra and Parramatta, and
 - the locality of Carlingford was split between the proposed Divisions of Berowra, Mitchell and Parramatta, with all electors in the locality sited in the proposed Division of Parramatta.
117. Objections to the proposed redistribution and comments on objections advocated:
- the localities of Epping and North Epping, as well as the parts of the localities of Beecroft and Carlingford in the existing Division of Bennelong, be united in one electoral division, and
 - the localities of Epping and North Epping, as well as the parts of the localities of Beecroft and Carlingford in the existing Division of Bennelong, be retained in the proposed Division of Bennelong.
118. Objections and comments on objections supported the argument that there was a strong community of interest between the localities of Epping, North Epping and the part of Carlingford located in the existing Division of Bennelong and the proposed Division of Bennelong. Connections with nearby localities, such as Eastwood, Ryde, and Macquarie Park, including similar demographic profiles, were highlighted and contrasted with the purported weak connections with localities north of the M2 Motorway.
119. There was also a significant focus on ensuring the locality of Epping was not split among multiple electoral divisions, as many submissions spoke to the efforts made to have Epping united in the one electorate at all three levels of Government.
120. The augmented Electoral Commission considered the community of interest shared between the locality of Epping and localities such as Eastwood and Ryde but observed that those advocating the transfer of Epping to the proposed Division of Bennelong created splits in other communities of interest. Other unsatisfactory alternatives included splitting the locality of Epping between three electoral divisions instead of two, or placing the locality of North Epping in the proposed Division of Berowra where it would be geographically isolated from the rest of the proposed electoral division.
121. The augmented Electoral Commission concluded that:
- the Redistribution Committee's proposal was sound;
 - any alternatives proposed or other adjustments necessary to accommodate these changes within the requirements of the Electoral Act would not result in an improved outcome at this time and would have significant consequential effects for the rest of the redistribution; and
 - for these reasons, the Redistribution Committee's proposal should stand substantially unchanged.
122. The locality of North Epping and that part of the locality of Epping located to the east of Midson Road will be transferred from the Division of Bennelong to the Division of Berowra.
123. The part of the locality of Carlingford located to the east of Pennant Hills Road and Marsden Road, and that part of the locality of Epping located to the west of Midson Road will be transferred from the Division of Bennelong to the Division of Parramatta.

The electoral division(s) in which the suburbs of Dee Why and North Curl Curl are located

124. At the start of the redistribution:
 - the locality of Dee Why was split between the Divisions of Mackellar and Warringah, and
 - the locality of North Curl Curl was located in the Division of Warringah.
125. As the Division of Mackellar needed to gain electors if it was to meet the numerical requirements of the Electoral Act, the Redistribution Committee proposed that the majority of the localities of North Curl Curl and of Dee Why, together with some small segments of Curl Curl should be located in the proposed Division of Mackellar. The Redistribution Committee's proposed change would unite the majority of the locality of Dee Why in a single electoral division, establishing a strong and readily identifiable boundary along Curl Curl Lagoon and Greendale Creek.⁴¹
126. Objections to the proposed redistribution and comments on objections advocated:
 - retaining the parts of the localities of Dee Why and North Curl Curl in the proposed Division of Warringah,
 - transferring parts of the locality of Dee Why to the proposed Division of Warringah, and/or
 - transferring the localities of Dee Why and North Curl Curl to the proposed Division of Mackellar.
127. Submissions were split on this issue. Some argued that Dee Why has a stronger community of interest to its south, and the boundary between the existing Divisions of Mackellar and Warringah should be retained or even moved northward so that more of Dee Why would be located in the proposed Division of Warringah. These arguments were generally a subset of broader ideas that argued for the Division of Mackellar to gain electors from St Ives, which negated the requirement for the proposed Division of Warringah to gain electors from the North Sydney CBD, thereby supporting the retention of the Division of North Sydney.
128. Other submissions supported the proposed Division of Mackellar gaining a larger portion of Dee Why as:
 - a substantial portion of Dee Why is in the existing Division of Mackellar, and
 - Dee Why shares a stronger community of interest with the proposed Division of Mackellar, as a Northern Beaches focused electoral division, than do electors from the upper North Shore.
129. Many of the submissions which supported the Redistribution Committee's proposal for the location of the suburbs of Dee Why and North Curl Curl also opposed those who advocated moving St Ives to the proposed Division of Mackellar.
130. The augmented Electoral Commission found insufficient substantive reasons were given for a reconsideration of this proposed change and considered the Redistribution Committee's proposal to unite almost all of Dee Why within one proposed electoral division and the provision of a clear boundary at the Curl Curl Lagoon provided a more satisfactory outcome than any alternative proposal.
131. The augmented Electoral Commission concluded that:
 - the Redistribution Committee's proposal was sound,
 - any alternatives proposed or other adjustments necessary to accommodate these changes within the requirements of the Electoral Act would not result in an improved outcome at this time and would have significant consequential effects for the rest of the redistribution, and
 - for these reasons, the Redistribution Committee's proposal should stand unchanged.

132. The augmented Electoral Commission therefore decided to retain the Redistribution Committee's proposed boundaries between the proposed Divisions of Mackellar and Warringah, with the majority of the localities of North Curl Curl and of Dee Why and some small segments of Curl Curl to be located in the Division of Mackellar.

The electoral division(s) in which the suburbs of Forestville, Frenchs Forest and Killarney Heights are located

133. At the start of the redistribution, the Division of Mackellar needed to gain electors if it was to meet the two numerical requirements of the Electoral Act. The Redistribution Committee considered that the part of the Division of Warringah within the Forest District to the west of Wakehurst Parkway, encompassing the localities of Forestville, Killarney Heights and part of the locality of Frenchs Forest, should be transferred to the proposed Division of Mackellar.⁴²
134. Prior to the commencement of the redistribution:
- the majority of the locality of Frenchs Forest was located in the Division of Mackellar with a portion located in the Division of Warringah,
 - the locality of Forestville was split between the Divisions of Mackellar and Warringah, and
 - the majority of the locality of Killarney Heights was located in the Division of Warringah with a very small portion located in the Division of Mackellar.
135. Objections to the proposed redistribution and comments on objections advocated:
- retaining the Redistribution Committee's proposed electoral division boundaries, with the locality of Forestville and the majority of the localities of Frenchs Forest and Killarney Heights located in the proposed Division of Mackellar, or
 - retaining the boundary between the Divisions of Mackellar and Warringah existing at the start of the redistribution.
136. Those in favour of retaining the Redistribution Committee's proposal argued the changes united these split localities and strengthened the community of interest in the region.
137. Those in favour of retaining the electoral division boundaries in place at the start of the redistribution considered the relevant localities were tied to the rest of the Division of Warringah. They pointed to a shared history and the use of shared economic centres.
138. The augmented Electoral Commission considered that the arguments for reconsideration of the proposed change were insufficiently persuasive; and that the Redistribution Committee's proposal to unite Forestville within one electoral division, with provision for a clear boundary at Wakehurst Parkway provided the most satisfactory outcome.
139. The augmented Electoral Commission concluded that:
- the Redistribution Committee's proposal was sound,
 - any alternatives proposed or other adjustments necessary to accommodate these changes within the requirements of the Electoral Act would not result in an improved outcome at this time and would have significant consequential effects for the rest of the redistribution, and
 - for these reasons, the Redistribution Committee's proposal should be adopted.
140. The augmented Electoral Commission therefore decided to retain the Redistribution Committee's proposed boundaries between the Divisions of Mackellar and Warringah.

⁴² Ibid., page 73–74

The electoral division(s) in which the suburbs of Emu Heights, Emu Plains and Leonay are located

141. At the commencement of the redistribution, the Divisions of Lindsay and Macquarie did not meet the two numerical requirements of the Electoral Act. Consequently, the boundaries of both electoral divisions needed to be altered such that electors were required to be transferred from one or more other electoral divisions.⁴³
142. Several suggestions to the redistribution and comments on suggestions argued that the proposed Division of Macquarie should gain all or part of the localities of Emu Heights, Emu Plains and Leonay from the Division of Lindsay. The Redistribution Committee noted that while there are significant community of interest links between these localities and the Division of Lindsay, transferring the localities of Emu Heights, Emu Plains and Leonay from the existing Division of Lindsay to the proposed Division of Macquarie would satisfy the two numerical requirements of the Electoral Act. This would also mean that no further changes to the boundaries of the proposed Divisions of Lindsay or Macquarie were required.⁴⁴
143. Objections to the proposed redistribution and comments on objections advocated retaining some or all of the localities of Emu Heights, Emu Plains and Leonay in the proposed Division of Lindsay.
144. Those arguing for this retention did so on the basis of:
 - the strong connection these localities share with Penrith, and therefore they should be located in the same electoral division;
 - means of communication and transport links for these localities are Penrith focused; and
 - communities of interests, by way of provision of services, shopping and schools, are Penrith focused.
145. Some objections to the redistribution advanced an alternative proposal in which the locality of Box Hill was transferred from the Division of Greenway to the proposed Division of Macquarie.
146. The augmented Electoral Commission observed that those arguing against the proposed boundary change did not present substantive arguments addressing the numerical constraints imposed by the Electoral Act. As neither the Division of Lindsay nor the Division of Macquarie met the numerical requirements of the Electoral Act on the boundaries in place at the start of the redistribution, the augmented Electoral Commission concluded that:
 - the Redistribution Committee's proposal was sound;
 - any alternatives proposed or other adjustments necessary to accommodate these changes within the requirements of the Electoral Act would not result in an improved outcome at this time and would have significant consequential effects for the rest of the redistribution; and
 - for these reasons, the Redistribution Committee's proposal should stand unchanged.
147. The localities of Emu Heights, Emu Plains and Leonay will be located in the Division of Macquarie.

⁴⁴ Ibid., page 71 and 76

The electoral division(s) in which the suburbs of St Ives and St Ives Chase are located

148. Several suggestions to the redistribution and comments on suggestions were in favour of the Division of Mackellar gaining electors to the west of the electoral division. To make this change, at least the locality of St Ives would be required to transfer from the Division of Bradfield to the proposed Division of Mackellar.⁴⁵
149. The Redistribution Committee proposed retaining the localities of St Ives and St Ives Chase in the proposed Division of Bradfield. As a result of other proposed changes, the movement of these two localities was not needed to ensure the proposed Division of Mackellar met the two numerical parameters of the Electoral Act. The proposed Division of Mackellar, as constructed by the Redistribution Committee, was therefore comprised of part of the Northern Beaches Council.⁴⁶ As proposed by the Redistribution Committee, the proposed Division of Bradfield comprised the Ku-ring-gai Council in its entirety, part of the North Sydney Council and part of the Willoughby City Council.⁴⁷
150. Objections to the proposed redistribution and comments on objections advocated:
 - the localities of St Ives and St Ives Chase be transferred from the Division of Bradfield to the proposed Division of Mackellar, or
 - the localities of St Ives and St Ives Chase remain in the proposed Division of Bradfield.
151. Some argued a community of interest exists between the locality of St Ives and the proposed Division of Mackellar, particularly with the locality of Mona Vale and the Forest District area (which stretches from Middle Harbour, north along Garigal National Park and up towards Ku-ring-gai Chase National Park, including the localities of Forestville, Frenchs Forest, Duffys Forest, Terrey Hills, Davidson, Belrose and Killarney Heights).
152. Those who advocated retaining the two localities in the proposed Division of Bradfield argued:
 - the localities of St Ives and St Ives Chase had no shared community of interest with the Northern Beaches-focused Division of Mackellar, pointing to different local government areas, sporting competitions, school catchment areas, commercial hubs, community groups, cultural centres and economic centres;
 - the Northern Beaches are separated from the localities of St Ives and St Ives Chase by the Garigal and Ku-ring-gai Chase National Parks;
 - there are poor transport links between St Ives and the rest of the proposed Division of Mackellar; and/or
 - the proposed Division of Mackellar should be kept within the Northern Beaches Council area rather than being split across two local government areas.
153. The augmented Electoral Commission observed that the majority of those arguing for the inclusion of St Ives and St Ives Chase in the proposed Division of Mackellar did so as part of a larger argument to retain the Division of North Sydney. In the absence of this retention, the numerical constraints of the Electoral Act limit the feasibility of making this transfer.
154. When considering the other criteria in the Electoral Act, the strength of the community of interest St Ives and St Ives Chase share with the Upper North Shore areas was considered by the augmented

Electoral Commission to be significantly stronger than that shared with the Northern Beaches area and the proposed Division of Mackellar.

155. The augmented Electoral Commission concluded that:
 - the Redistribution Committee's proposal was sound;
 - any alternatives proposed or other adjustments necessary to accommodate these changes within the requirements of the Electoral Act would not result in an improved outcome at this time and would have significant consequential effects for the rest of the redistribution; and
 - for these reasons, the Redistribution Committee's proposal should stand unchanged.
156. The localities of St Ives and St Ives Chase will be located in the Division of Bradfield.

The boundaries of the proposed Divisions of Greenway, McMahon, Mitchell and Parramatta

157. On the boundaries in place at the start of the redistribution, the Divisions of Greenway and Mitchell exceeded the numerical requirements of the Electoral Act. This required the Redistribution Committee to transfer electors to other electoral divisions. This need to transfer electors was compounded by the changes made to adjacent electoral divisions because of the proposed abolition of the Division of North Sydney.⁴⁸
158. As a result of the Redistribution Committee's proposal:
 - the locality of Blacktown would continue to be split between the proposed Divisions of Chifley, Greenway and McMahon;
 - the locality of Rouse Hill would be split between the proposed Divisions of Greenway and Mitchell, but all electors in the locality would be united in the Division of Greenway; and
 - the locality of Seven Hills would be split between the proposed Divisions of Greenway, McMahon and Parramatta instead of being contained within the boundaries of one electoral division.
159. Ideas advocated in objections to the proposed redistribution and comments on objections included:
 - the locality of Blacktown should, in its entirety, be placed in a proposed electoral division;
 - transferring the portion of the Division of Mitchell south of the M2 Motorway to the proposed Division of Parramatta, increasing the proportion of the City of Parramatta Council located in the proposed electoral division;
 - maintaining the use of Windsor Road as the boundary between the proposed Divisions of Greenway and Mitchell. This would retain the Rouse Hill town centre in the proposed Division of Mitchell. Alternatively, the part of the locality of Rouse Hill east of Windsor Road could be transferred to the proposed Division of Mitchell;
 - placing all, or a greater portion, of the locality of Seven Hills in the proposed Division of Greenway due to a strong connection to the main CBD of Blacktown City; and
 - centring the proposed Division of Parramatta on the City of Parramatta Council.
160. Some objections and comments on objections were in favour of well-established suburbs being placed in different electoral divisions to newer suburbs which are projected to grow. Other community of interest arguments focused on similarity of socio-economic backgrounds and shared community resources such as council libraries, community halls and parks.
161. Other submissions raised the use of public transport, and the need or otherwise to use multiple services to travel between locations within the same electoral division to support changes.

⁴⁸ Ibid., pages 64–65 and 77

162. Several objections to the proposed redistribution and comments on objections supported some, or all, of the electoral divisions proposed by the Redistribution Committee, noting that some of these proposed electoral divisions were more readily identifiable than existing electoral division boundaries.
163. The augmented Electoral Commission observed that adopting some of the advocated changes would lead to the colocation of areas projected to have significant growth in electors. As this would raise the possibility of triggering an earlier than expected redistribution, the augmented Electoral Commission considered that these changes were best avoided.
164. Moreover, the augmented Electoral Commission was not persuaded that the suggested changes to readily identifiable proposed electoral division boundaries, such as the use of the railway lines through Blacktown to split the Divisions of Chifley, Greenway and McMahon, were beneficial.
165. The augmented Electoral Commission concluded that:
 - the Redistribution Committee's proposal was sound;
 - any alternatives proposed or other adjustments necessary to accommodate these changes within the requirements of the Electoral Act would not result in an improved outcome at this time and would have significant consequential effects for the rest of the redistribution; and
 - for these reasons, the Redistribution Committee's proposal should be accepted, with the addition of a minor alignment to alter the boundaries of the proposed Divisions of McMahon and Parramatta to follow the M4 Motorway. This change to the proposed boundary would not require any movement of electors.

The boundaries of the proposed Divisions of Barton, Grayndler, Kingsford Smith, Sydney and Wentworth

166. On the boundaries in place at the start of the redistribution, the Divisions of Barton, Grayndler, Kingsford Smith, Sydney and Wentworth did not meet the numerical requirements of the Electoral Act. All five of these electoral divisions were required to gain electors.⁴⁹ The proximity of these electoral divisions to Sydney Harbour and Botany Bay limited the options from which electors could be transferred into some of these electoral divisions.
167. To address these factors, and incorporate existing communities of interest between adjoining localities, the Redistribution Committee proposed a series of changes to the boundaries of these five electoral divisions, including moving all or parts of the localities of Brighton-Le-Sands, Kyeemagh, Monterey, Ramsgate Beach and Rockdale from the existing Divisions of Barton and Cook to the proposed Division of Kingsford Smith, in recognition of their strong transport link along The Grand Parade.⁵⁰
168. The main focus in objections to the proposed redistribution was against:
 - the inclusion of the localities of Brighton-Le-Sands, Kyeemagh, Monterey and Ramsgate Beach, and part of the locality of Rockdale, in the proposed Division of Kingsford Smith, and
 - the proposed Division of Kingsford Smith crossing the Cooks River.
169. Submissions raised several arguments, including the perception that the location of the Cooks River, Botany Bay and Sydney Airport placed a geographical constraint on there being a cohesive electoral division, and that the Bayside Council was not a strong indicator of a shared community of interest across these localities and electors. Submissions argued that these localities should instead be placed in the proposed Division of Barton, due to a shared community of interest with adjoining localities. To enable this, submissions tended to the view that the proposed Division of Kingsford Smith should instead gain electors from the Divisions of Sydney and/or Wentworth, with a series of compensatory changes made to one or more of the proposed Divisions of Barton, Grayndler, Sydney and Wentworth.

170. The augmented Electoral Commission observed that a variety of alternative electoral division boundaries were proposed to accommodate the re-location of the localities of Kyeemagh, Brighton-Le-Sands, Monterey and Ramsgate Beach. Many of these alternatives did not meet the numerical constraints of the Electoral Act, or left the exact nature of the necessary changes to the augmented Electoral Commission to decide.
171. Some of the submissions that did result in meeting the numerical requirements of the Electoral Act only did so by advocating a series of consequential changes advancing as far west as the locality of Liverpool in the proposed Division of Fowler. Many submissions also split established and clear communities of interest across multiple proposed electoral divisions, such as the Green Square precinct between the proposed Divisions of Kingsford Smith and Sydney.
172. The augmented Electoral Commission concluded that:
 - the Redistribution Committee's proposal was sound;
 - any alternatives proposed or other adjustments necessary to accommodate these changes within the requirements of the Electoral Act would not result in an improved outcome at this time and would have significant consequential effects for the rest of the redistribution; and
 - for these reasons, the Redistribution Committee's proposal should be adopted.
173. The boundaries of the Divisions of Barton, Grayndler, Kingsford Smith, Sydney and Wentworth will be as proposed by the Redistribution Committee.

Movement of electors between electoral divisions

174. The Redistribution Committee noted it was required to increase or decrease the number of electors in at least 35 of New South Wales' 47 electoral divisions. As not all of these electoral divisions were adjacent to each other, the Redistribution Committee observed it also needed to alter the boundaries of electoral divisions which met the numerical requirements of the Electoral Act in order to ensure that all of New South Wales' electoral divisions meet the numerical requirements.⁵¹ As a consequence of making changes to 39 of the existing electoral divisions in New South Wales and abolishing one electoral division, the Redistribution Committee proposed transferring 712,851 electors, or 12.81 per cent of electors enrolled in New South Wales at the commencement of the redistribution, to another electoral division.⁵²
175. The augmented Electoral Commission was also obligated to increase or decrease the number of electors in at least 35 of New South Wales' 47 electoral divisions and to abolish one electoral division. As the augmented Electoral Commission adopted the Redistribution Committee's proposal with some modifications, the extent of elector movements between electoral divisions increased from those proposed by the Redistribution Committee.

176. The adjustments to electoral divisions made by the augmented Electoral Commission resulted in 6,871 additional electors moving between electoral divisions than was proposed by the Redistribution Committee. Table H outlines the extent of elector movements resulting from the augmented Electoral Commission’s redistribution.

Table H: Summary of movement of electors between electoral divisions

	Number	Percentage
Electors transferred to another electoral division	719,722	12.93%
Electors remaining in their electoral division	4,846,767	87.07%
Total	5,566,489	100.00%

177. The Redistribution Committee’s proposal to alter the basis for the naming of the Division of Cook would have affected 116,059 electors, or 2.08 per cent of electors enrolled in New South Wales at the commencement of the redistribution.⁵³
178. As the augmented Electoral Commission has accepted the Redistribution Committee’s proposed boundaries for the Division of Cook, Table I displays the number of electors affected by altering the basis for the naming of the Division of Cook.

Table I: Electors affected by proposal to alter the basis for naming of an electoral division

	Number	Percentage
Electors whose electoral division will have a changed basis for naming	116,059	2.08%
Electors whose electoral division will have an unchanged basis for naming	5,450,430	97.92%

Redistribution of New South Wales – by electoral division

179. For each of the electoral divisions in New South Wales, Table J presents:
- initial enrolment based on enrolment figures as at Wednesday 9 August 2023,
 - percentage variation from the redistribution quota,
 - enrolment based on projected enrolment figures as at Monday 10 April 2028,
 - percentage variation from the projected enrolment quota, and
 - the approximate area of each electoral division.

180. Numerical summaries of the electoral divisions are provided in Appendix L. These summaries are provided to assist electors to identify if their electoral division has been altered as a result of this redistribution.

Chapter 3

Implementation of the redistribution

This chapter outlines what the implementation of the redistribution means in practice for residents of New South Wales.

181. In accordance with sub-section 73(1) of the Electoral Act, the electoral divisions described in this report came into effect from Thursday 10 October 2024 as this is the day on which the augmented Electoral Commission published a notice in the Gazette determining the names and boundaries of electoral divisions in New South Wales.
182. However, members of the House of Representatives will not represent or contest these electoral divisions until after a writ is issued for a general election following the expiration or dissolution of the House of Representatives.
183. In practice, this means:
 - electors will continue to be represented by the members of the House of Representatives who were elected at the most recent federal general election on Saturday 21 May 2022 or at a by-election held after this date,
 - members of the House of Representatives represent the electoral divisions which were in place at the most recent federal general election on Saturday 21 May 2022,
 - where relevant, allowances for members of the House of Representatives are calculated based on the electoral divisions in place at the most recent federal general election,⁵⁴
 - from Thursday 10 October 2024, enrolment statistics will be published based on the electoral divisions described in this report,⁵⁵ and
 - from Thursday 10 October 2024, members of the House of Representatives are able to request copies of the electoral roll for any electoral division which includes all or part of the electoral division for which they were elected.⁵⁶

When do the new electoral divisions apply?

184. While the new names and boundaries of electoral divisions apply from Thursday 10 October 2024, elections will not be contested on these new electoral divisions until a writ is issued for a general election following the expiration or dissolution of the House of Representatives.

⁵⁴ See sub-section 67(3) of Parliamentary Business Resources Regulations 2017.

⁵⁵ Section 58 of the Electoral Act requires the Electoral Commissioner to publish on a monthly basis, via a notice in the Gazette, the number of electors enrolled in each electoral division, the average divisional enrolment for each state and territory and the extent to which each electoral division differs from the average divisional enrolment.

⁵⁶ Item 15 of sub-section 90B(1) of the Electoral Act specifies the information from the electoral roll which can be supplied to a member of the House of Representatives whose electoral division is affected by a redistribution.

Do I need to do anything to change my electoral division?

185. Individuals do not need to take any action where their electoral division changes as the result of a redistribution. Section 86 of the Electoral Act requires the AEC to:
- transfer the elector to the new electoral roll, and
 - notify the elector their electoral division has changed.⁵⁷

For how long will the new electoral divisions apply?

186. Sub-section 73(1) of the Electoral Act provides that the new electoral divisions apply until the determination of the next redistribution via publication of a notice in the Gazette. This determination may be made as a result of sub-section 73(1) or sub-section 76(6) of the Electoral Act.

On which electoral divisions would a by-election be contested?

187. Until the writ for the next federal general election is issued, any by-election will be conducted using the electoral divisions which existed prior to the determination of the redistribution, as provided by sub-sections 73(6) and 73(7) of the Electoral Act.

How do I find out if my electoral division has changed?

188. You can check your enrolment by using the AEC's online enrolment verification facility available at: www.aec.gov.au/check. For privacy reasons, your electoral enrolment will only be confirmed if the details you enter are an exact match to your details on the electoral roll.
189. Alternatively, you can contact the AEC on 13 23 26 or use the 'Find my electorate' tool on the AEC website at: www.aec.gov.au/electorate, which will enable you to find:
- which federal electorate you live in,
 - a profile and map of your electoral division, and
 - the name of the incumbent member of the House of Representatives for your electoral division.

Do I need to know my electoral division to enrol or update my enrolment details?

190. No, all you need to do is provide the details of your residential address and the AEC will tell you which electoral division you are enrolled for. You can enrol by using:
- the AEC's online enrolment service available at: www.aec.gov.au/enrol,
 - completing and printing a PDF enrolment form available from the AEC website and returning it to the AEC, or
 - picking up an enrolment form at any AEC office and returning it to the AEC.

⁵⁷ Sub-section 86(3) provides for this notification to be via a notice published in a newspaper or a notice delivered to the elector's address.

Where can I find information about the new electoral divisions?

191. Maps and descriptions of the new electoral divisions are available on the AEC website.

Where can I find information about the electoral divisions which applied at previous federal elections?

192. Maps and descriptions of previous electoral divisions are available on the AEC website.

Is geospatial data for the new electoral divisions available?

193. Individual state/territory boundaries are available on the relevant redistribution page and on the Maps and Spatial Data page of the AEC website.

Appendix B: Operation of statutory requirements for the making of a redistribution

Section 73 of the Electoral Act requires the augmented Electoral Commission to abide by the following requirements:

- make a determination of the names and boundaries of the electoral divisions of New South Wales by a notice published in the Gazette,
- ensure the number of electoral divisions New South Wales is divided into, equals the number of members of the House of Representatives to be chosen in New South Wales at a general election, and
- abide by the following requirements:
 - (4) In making the determination, the augmented Electoral Commission:
 - (a) shall, as far as practicable, endeavour to ensure that the number of electors enrolled in each Electoral Division in the State will not, at the projection time determined under section 63A, be less than 96.5% or more than 103.5% of the average divisional enrolment of that State at that time; and
 - (b) subject to paragraph (a), shall give due consideration, in relation to each Electoral Division, to:
 - (i) community of interests within the Electoral Division, including economic, social and regional interests;
 - (ii) means of communication and travel within the Electoral Division;
 - (iv) the physical features and area of the Electoral Division; and
 - (v) the boundaries of existing Divisions in the State;

and subject thereto the redistribution quota for the State shall be the basis for the redistribution, and the augmented Electoral Commission may adopt a margin of allowance, to be used whenever necessary, but in no case shall the redistribution quota be departed from to a greater extent than one-tenth more or one-tenth less.

(4A) When applying subsection (4), the augmented Electoral Commission must treat the matter in subparagraph (4)(b)(v) as subordinate to the matters in subparagraphs (4)(b)(i), (ii) and (iv).

These statutory requirements are expressed in a hierarchical order.

The purpose of paragraph 73(4)(a) is suggested by its history. It has undergone some transformation since the Commonwealth Electoral Legislation Amendment Act 1983 stipulated that boundaries were to be drawn, as far as practicable, to achieve equal numbers of electors in each of a state's electoral divisions three-and-a-half years after a redistribution. By 1984 'it was observed that the three-and-a-half year rule had in some areas forced the adoption, on purely numerical grounds, of boundaries which took little account of perceived community of interest'.⁵⁸ Therefore, in 1987, the rule was relaxed to permit a measure of tolerance to plus or minus two per cent from average projected enrolment. Subsequently, the Joint Standing Committee on Electoral Matters concluded that:

the numerical criteria do not allow "due consideration", in the words of the Act, to be given to the qualitative factors. Rather, the political parties and others attempting to frame electoral boundaries essentially find themselves engaged in a mathematical modelling exercise. In order *to relax the enrolment requirements to that extent necessary to allow a realistic degree of flexibility the Committee recommends ... that subsections 66(3)(a) and 73(4)(a) of the Electoral Act be amended, so as to extend the variation from average divisional enrolment allowed three-and-a-half years after a redistribution from two to 3.5 percent.*⁵⁹

The Joint Standing Committee on Electoral Matters also, in the same report, refers to its recommended amendment as one that ‘would maintain substantial restrictions on malapportionment [and] would allow other legitimate policy objectives to be more effectively met’.

Paragraph 73(4)(a) follows this recommendation. The terms of the recommendation, and the discussion which preceded it, make clear the purpose of paragraph 73(4)(a), as it now stands, and how it was intended to interact with the other criteria set out in the sub-paragraphs of paragraph 73(4)(b), to which also ‘due consideration’ must be given. The augmented Electoral Commission has considered the objections, comments on objections and submissions to the inquiry and made its redistribution on this basis.

In summary, the primary criteria are to:

- endeavour to ensure that the number of electors in the electoral divisions are within a range of 3.5 per cent below or above the projected enrolment quota at the projection time, and
- ensure that current enrolments are within 10 per cent below or above the redistribution quota.

The secondary criteria are community of interests, means of communication and travel, and physical features and area. The augmented Electoral Commission also considers the boundaries of existing electoral divisions; however, this criterion is subordinate to the others.

⁵⁹ ibid., paragraph 4.11.

Appendix C: Objections to the proposed redistribution of New South Wales

A total of 738 written objections were received. To aid the reader, these objections have been grouped according to major theme where appropriate.

the word 'abolishment' not be used	OB6	Michael Dredge	the objection was not based on a ground that could be considered by the augmented Electoral Commission in making a redistribution of electoral divisions
they should not have to move divisions	OB51	Greg Sullivan	abolishing an electoral division will, of necessity, result in significant elector movement out of the abolished electoral divisions and will also require consequential boundary changes and elector movements across the state to ensure that all electoral divisions remain within the two permissible ranges for the number of electors
the proposed changes not be adopted on the basis of 2023 population statistics	OB132	Gregory Gange	the objection was not based on a ground that could be considered by the augmented Electoral Commission in making a redistribution of electoral divisions. The augmented Electoral Commission came to this conclusion as: ▪ section 48 of the Electoral Act prescribes the method of determining the number of members of House of Representatives to be chosen in States and Territories, and ▪ NSW was determined to be entitled to 46 divisions on Thursday 27 July 2023

maps produced through the course of the redistribution should show the expansion and land reclamation of Port Botany	OB152	Lynda Newnam	the augmented Electoral Commission notes the objection
the approach to the redistribution should be more pragmatic, aggressive and forward thinking, improving shapes and communities of interest and reuniting suburbs and local government areas	OB249	Benjamin Close	the augmented Electoral Commission notes that, within the numerical parameters and the other required criteria of the Electoral Act, it gives due consideration, to the extent possible, to maintaining and improving communities of interest and keeping local government areas and/or suburbs united in the same electoral division
key commercial areas should be united in single divisions	OB271	Anonymous 17	the augmented Electoral Commission notes that community of interests within electoral divisions, including economic, social and regional interests, is only one of the factors required to be considered in the placement of electoral division boundaries
the Chinese community should be united in seats like Parramatta, Reid, Bennelong, Bradfield, Banks and Barton	OB271	Anonymous 17	the augmented Electoral Commission notes that community of interests within electoral divisions, including economic, social and regional interests, is only one of the factors required to be considered in the placement of electoral division boundaries

no division be abolished in New South Wales	OB709	Carolyn Crossman	the objection was not based on a ground that could be considered by the augmented Electoral Commission in making a redistribution of electoral divisions. The augmented Electoral Commission came to this conclusion as: ▪ paragraph 59(2)(a) of the Electoral Act requires a direction to commence a redistribution be made forthwith after the making of a determination resulting in an alteration of the number of members of the House of Representatives to be chosen in the State at a general election, and ▪ a determination altering New South Wales' number of members was made on Thursday 27 July 2023
there should be a greater coordination of figures in population projections, including planning and development	IS3	Roderick Simpson	this submission to the inquiry was not based on a ground that could be considered by the augmented Electoral Commission in making a redistribution of electoral divisions
	IS64	Jane Parker
the redistribution process should not involve submissions by political parties	IS22	Dr Gary Barnes	the Electoral Act allows for submissions to be made to the Redistribution Committee and the augmented Electoral Commission by any person or organisation

Appendix G: Constructing electoral boundaries

The AEC maintains the electoral roll on the basis of alignment to SA1s, and is able to provide data on enrolments and projected enrolments at this level. Accordingly, in formulating its proposals, the augmented Electoral Commission used SA1s as its basic building blocks. The SA1s have defined boundaries and are of differing sizes and shapes. In cases where the augmented Electoral Commission considered that a particular SA1 boundary was inappropriate for use as an electoral division boundary, the SA1 was split to provide a more meaningful boundary.

The indicative area of electoral divisions in New South Wales has been calculated by aggregating the area of:

- all land-based SA1s;
- any parts of land-based SA1s; and
- any lakes, ponds, rivers, creeks, wetlands or marshes not already included in land-based SA1s, that are contained within the divisional boundary of each electoral division.

Areas are calculated using the AEC's Electoral Boundary Mapping System (EBMS), developed within the 'MapInfo Professional' software package.

The augmented Electoral Commission used EBMS as an aid to model various boundary options.

Appendix H: Announcement of the augmented Electoral Commission's proposed redistribution

The text of the augmented Electoral Commission's public announcement of its proposed redistribution, as published on Thursday 12 September 2024, is reproduced below.

Names and boundaries of federal electoral divisions in New South Wales decided

The augmented Electoral Commission for New South Wales today announced the final outcome of the New South Wales federal redistribution.

The Hon. Susan Kenny AM KC, the presiding member, thanked the individuals and organisations who contributed to the redistribution.

"All written objections and comments, as well as the information presented at the inquiry, have been carefully considered in deciding the final names and boundaries," she said.

The augmented Electoral Commission has unanimously accepted the Redistribution Committee's proposed abolition of the Division of North Sydney, to retire the name of the Division of North Sydney and to modify the boundaries of nine of the electoral divisions initially proposed in May 2024," she said.

As a result of these modifications, more electors will change their electoral division.

Electoral division names

All seat names initially proposed in May have been adopted. This results in:

- retiring the name 'North Sydney',
- altering the basis for the naming of the Division of Cook to jointly honour:
 - former Prime Minister, the Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Cook GCMG PC (1860–1947), and
 - Captain James Cook FRS (1728–1779)
- retaining the names of the 45 remaining electoral divisions.

Electoral division boundaries

The initial redistribution proposal has been modified by placing:

- a portion of the locality of Wahroonga (located to the west of Coups Creek, consisting of the streets of Mount Pleasant Avenue and Waratah Way) in the proposed Division of Berowra
 - the proposal had placed this portion of Wahroonga in the proposed Division of Bradfield
- a portion of the localities of Lidcombe, Rookwood and Strathfield (located to the west of the Campsie-Flemington Goods Line and north of the Chullora-Sefton Goods Line) in the proposed Division of Blaxland
 - the proposal had placed those portions in the proposed Division of Watson
- the entirety of the localities of Central Mangrove and Kulnura in the proposed Division of Robertson
 - the proposal had placed portions of these localities east of George Downes Drive in the proposed Division of Dobell

- a portion of the locality of Yagoona (east of Rose Street and south of Ferrier Road) in the proposed Division of Watson
 - the proposal had placed that portion of Yagoona in the proposed Division of Blaxland.

Some minor alterations that involve no elector movements have also been made to provide more easily recognisable electoral division boundaries.

Next steps

The names and boundaries announced today are not considered to be significantly different from the initial proposal in May. Therefore, no further input from members of the public will be sought.

The new boundaries for New South Wales and the name changes mentioned above will be formally determined on Thursday 10 October 2024, when a notice of determination is published in the Commonwealth Government Notices Gazette. While members of the House of Representatives will continue to represent their current seats, a federal election with a writ issued after Thursday 10 October 2024 will be run on the new boundaries.

Overview maps will be available on the AEC website on Thursday 10 October 2024. Detailed maps and a report outlining the augmented Electoral Commission's reasons for its formal determination will be tabled in federal parliament and will subsequently be made publicly available.

Editor's notes:

- Initial proposal for the redistribution of New South Wales (Friday 14 June 2024)

Appendix I: Determination of electoral divisions in New South Wales by the augmented Electoral Commission

The text of the augmented Electoral Commission’s determination of electoral divisions in New South Wales, published in the Gazette on Thursday 10 October 2024, is reproduced below.

Determination of names and boundaries of federal electoral divisions in New South Wales: 10 October 2024

As determined by the Electoral Commissioner on 27 July 2023, New South Wales is entitled to 46 members of the House of Representatives.

Pursuant to sub-section 73(1) of the Commonwealth Electoral Act 1918 (the Electoral Act), the augmented Electoral Commission for New South Wales has determined the names of the 46 electoral divisions are:

- | | | | |
|--------------|-------------------|---------------|-------------|
| ▪ Banks | ▪ Eden-Monaro | ▪ Macarthur | ▪ Richmond |
| ▪ Barton | ▪ Farrer | ▪ Mackellar | ▪ Riverina |
| ▪ Bennelong | ▪ Fowler | ▪ McMahon | ▪ Robertson |
| ▪ Berowra | ▪ Gilmore | ▪ Macquarie | ▪ Shortland |
| ▪ Blaxland | ▪ Grayndler | ▪ Mitchell | ▪ Sydney |
| ▪ Bradfield | ▪ Greenway | ▪ Newcastle | ▪ Warringah |
| ▪ Calare | ▪ Hughes | ▪ New England | ▪ Watson |
| ▪ Chifley | ▪ Hume | ▪ Page | ▪ Wentworth |
| ▪ Cook | ▪ Hunter | ▪ Parkes | ▪ Werriwa |
| ▪ Cowper | ▪ Kingsford Smith | ▪ Parramatta | ▪ Whitlam |
| ▪ Cunningham | ▪ Lindsay | ▪ Paterson | |
| ▪ Dobell | ▪ Lyne | ▪ Reid | |

Pursuant to sub-section 73(1) of the Electoral Act, the augmented Electoral Commission for New South Wales has determined that the boundaries of these electoral divisions are as shown on the maps displayed on the Australian Electoral Commission website at www.aec.gov.au/Electorates/Redistributions and lodged in file number 2024/10800 at the National Office of the Australian Electoral Commission in Canberra.

The augmented Electoral Commission for New South Wales has made decisions in accordance with the requirements of sub-sections 73(3), 73(4) and 73(4A) of the Electoral Act.

As provided for by sub-section 73(1) of the Electoral Act, and subject to the provisions of the Electoral Act, the electoral divisions determined by this notice will apply from 10 October 2024 until the next determination of names and boundaries of electoral divisions in New South Wales is published in the Commonwealth Government Notices Gazette pursuant to sub-section 73(1) or sub-section 76(6) of the Electoral Act.

Pursuant to sub-section 73(6) of the Electoral Act, until the next following expiration or dissolution of the House of Representatives, the redistribution does not affect the election of a new member to fill a vacancy happening in the House of Representatives.

The Hon. Susan Kenny AM KC
Chairperson
Augmented Electoral Commission for New South Wales

Note:

1. Jointly named electoral divisions are those which have been named for a husband and wife, for a family, or for a group of individuals with a common surname who may or may not be related.
2. Electoral divisions named for an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander word include those named for an anglicised version of an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander word.
3. Federation electoral divisions are those which were in place for the 1901 election.

Appendix K: Guidelines for naming federal electoral divisions

Determining the names of federal electoral divisions is part of the process of conducting a federal redistribution within a state or territory.

The criteria used by redistribution committees to propose the names of electoral divisions, and used by augmented electoral commissions to determine the names of electoral divisions, have previously been the subject of recommendations from the Joint Standing Committee on Electoral Matters. From these recommendations, a set of guidelines were developed as a point of reference only.

It should be noted that while redistribution committees and augmented Electoral Commissions consider the guidelines, they are in no way bound by the guidelines.

Naming after persons

In the main, electoral divisions should be named after deceased Australians who have rendered outstanding service to their country.

When new electoral divisions are created the names of former Prime Ministers should be considered.

Federation Divisional names

Every effort should be made to retain the names of original federation electoral divisions.

Geographical names

Locality or place names should generally be avoided, but in certain areas the use of geographical features may be appropriate (e.g. Perth).

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander names

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander names should be used where appropriate and as far as possible existing Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander divisional names should be retained.

Other criteria

The names of Commonwealth electoral divisions should not duplicate existing state districts.

Qualifying names may be used where appropriate.

Names of electoral divisions should not be changed or transferred to new areas without very strong reasons.

When two or more electoral divisions are partially combined, as far as possible the name of the new electoral division should be that of the old electoral division which had the greatest number of electors within the new boundaries. However, where the socio-demographic nature of the electoral division in question has changed significantly, this should override the numerical formula.

Appendix L: General description of how electoral divisions are constituted

The following tables show how each electoral division has been constructed and are intended to assist electors to identify if their electoral division has been altered as a result of this redistribution.

The unit to display this construction is Statistical Area Level 2s (SA2s).⁶⁰ Each SA2 comprises a number of SA1s. The SA1s and SA2s which applied at the 2021 Census of Population and Housing have been used. Some SA2s will appear multiple times in the following tables as they are not contained within the one electoral division but cover multiple electoral divisions.

Electoral divisions are displayed in alphabetical order.

⁶⁰ SA2s are an area defined in the Australian Statistical Geography Standard, and consist of one or more whole SA1s. Wherever possible, SA2s are based on officially gazetted state/territory suburbs and localities. In urban areas SA2s largely conform to whole suburbs and combinations of whole suburbs, while in rural areas they define functional zones of social and economic links. Geography is also taken into account in SA2 design.
